

M. U. POULTRY MEN FIND SUCCESS IN INSTRUCTING

M. U. men who have been graduated in poultry within the last few years are making good, according to H. L. Kempster, associate professor of the poultry husbandry. E. H. Rucker, who was an assistant in the poultry department here last year, will be an instructor in poultry husbandry at the Massachusetts Agricultural College next year. Several other men from this department will go into teaching immediately after they finish their work here.

R. V. Mitchel, who was graduated in 1913, began work as an assistant professor in poultry husbandry in the New Hampshire Agriculture College and is now head of that department. In connection with his work for the college, he has organized the State Poultry Growers' Association, a strong and successful organization. F. D. Crooks, who was graduated in 1914, is now head of the poultry department at Pennsylvania State College and is assisted by L. S. Kleinschmidt, who received his degree here in 1915. Mr. Crooks has recently published an extension bulletin on "Farm Poultry."

H. L. Shrader, B. S. in Agr. '13, is an investigator in poultry and egg handling for the Department of Agriculture, with his headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind.

While these Missouri graduates are making a reputation for their college, they are making reasonable incomes for themselves as well. Three of the five began work at $1,400 or for the year. Promotions have come with encouraging frequency.

Negroes to Church Convention.

The Rev. W. M. Simmons, pastor of the local negro Christian Church, and two other delegates will leave this week for the annual state convention at Hannibal. The convention will hold from August 2 to 6 inclusive. The two delegates will be selected from the Sunday school and the Christian Women's Board of Missions.

MISSOURI TO REVISE CHILDREN'S LAW CODE

Preliminary Report Now Out by Commission Appointed by Governor.

M. U. IS REPRESENTED

Changes to Be Recommended to Legislature to Improve Conditions.

A complete new code of laws for Missouri children is embodied in the preliminary report sent out throughout the state by the Missouri Code Commission, appointed by Governor Major in June 1915. A final report will be submitted to the next Legislature.

The preliminary report advocates many changes in the present laws affecting children in order to improve their health, recreation, education and protection in all parts of the state. The purpose of the code is not only to harmonize present laws for the welfare of the children but to suggest the best new methods in force in order to work out the plan best adapted to Missouri. Missouri is the first state in the Union to undertake in a thorough-going way a complete revision of all laws affecting children, from birth to maturity.

Columbians on Commission.

The preliminary report was drafted by the chairman of nine sub-committees, who have been working on the problem for over a year. All the twenty-four members of the Commission giving their time voluntarily. The committees and chairmen are:

PRESENT LAWS, Manley O. Hudson, professor of law in the University;

STATISTICS AND SOCIAL CONDITIONS, C. A. Ellwood, professor of sociology in the University;

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION, Isidor Loeb, professor of political economy in the University;

DELINQUENT CHILDREN, Roger N. Baldwin, secretary Civic League of St. Louis;

DEFECTIVE CHILDREN, Dr. J. E. W. Wallin, director of psycho-educational clinic of St. Louis;

DESTITUTE AND NEGLECTED CHILDREN, Dr. George B. Mangold, director of the Missouri School of Social Economy, St. Louis;

CHILD LABOR AND EDUCATION, A. S. Johnston, state factory inspector, St. Louis;

HEALTH AND RECREATION, Mrs. Phillip N. Moore, St. Louis;

EDUCATION, Howard A. Gass, state superintendent of schools.

The State Medical Society has assisted in framing the recommendations for public health laws, and Prof. J. D. Elliff, director of the Summer Session, chairman of the State Teachers' Federation, in the recommendations on school laws.

Would Enforce the Laws.

The commission is devoting as much attention to securing effective enforcement of the laws as to the laws themselves. One of the most striking recommendations is that for the creation of a board of public welfare in each county, to take charge of all the work done for public health, the care of the poor and prevention of crime.

This board is to be composed of five members, the three judges of the county court, judge of the circuit court and the superintendent of schools. It may employ a trained worker to deal with all these problems. In order to insure the employment of qualified persons each worker must hold a certificate of fitness from the State Board of Charities and Corrections. The great advantage of this plan is that it will bring together under one directing head all the welfare work of the entire county.

Here Are Other Recommendations.

Among other chief recommendations are: (1) the extension of the juvenile court from the six largest counties to every county in the state, so that all children may get the same protection and care; (2) raising the age at which a child may go to work from 14 to 16, unless the child has previously completed the eighth grade of school work, and also requiring physical examination to determine what kind of work the child is fitted to do; (3) in order to insure the successful bringing up of families of children in which the father is dead, in an institution or a deserter for over three years, mothers may receive pensions through the county boards of public welfare, so that they can keep their children with them at home. The pension is $12 a month for the first child under legal working age, and $8 a month for each additional child. This mothers' pension plan is advocated in preference to separating the family and sending the children to institutions.

Would Change Illegitimacy.

Other recommendations are to abolish the stigma of illegitimacy; licensing all institutions caring for children; prohibiting the commitment of destitute and neglected children to reform schools; giving the juvenile court sole jurisdiction of adults contributing to the delinquency or neglect of children; providing in a thorough-going way for all feeble-minded persons in the state; regulating the employment of children in street trades; providing for medical examination of school children and for compulsory school attendance during the entire school year instead of three-quarters as at present.

The commission will immediately take up the actual drafting of the laws, after the submission of this preliminary report. A campaign of education throughout the state will precede the introduction of the code in the Legislature in January.

Laws Being Drafted.

The work of drafting the laws is being done under the direction of Judge Rhodes E. Cave of the St. Louis Circuit Court, chairman of the commission, Prof. Manley O. Hudson of the University, and Roger N. Baldwin, secretary of the Civic League of St. Louis. The collection of data, laws, reports and general secretarial work is in the hands of Mrs. Maurice Lowenstein of St. Louis, assistant secretary.

The members of the commission are: Roger N. Baldwin, Rhodes E. Cave, Mrs. W. R. Chivvis, James F. Conran, Mrs. Harry C. January, A. Sidney Johnston, Dr. George B. Mangold and Mrs. Phillip N. Moore, St. Louis; Jacob Billkopf, L. A. Halbert, Edward E. Porterfield, and William Volker, Kansas City; Mrs. A. M. Clay-Ives, Chillicothe; Robert C. Clark, Boonville; Prof. C. A. Ellwood, Prof. Manley O. Hudson, Dean Isidor Loeb and J. L. Wagner, Columbia; Howard A. Gass, Jefferson City; D. E. Kennedy, Sedalia; Edward W. Moore, Lamar; Mrs. J. B. McBride, Springfield; Dr. R. P. C. Wilson, Marshall.

TO HOLD LIVESTOCK CAMPAIGN

M. U. Man Will Co-Operate In Work Planned for Johnson County.

S. T. Simpson, extension assistant professor, will co-operate with F. A. Gougler, county agent of Johnson County, in a campaign, to begin August 1, the purpose being to improve livestock. They will tour the county in automobiles, visiting the farmers, especially the breeders and owners of good sires. They will point out the good and bad sires and offer general suggestions that will aid the breeders in improving their stock.

The posters, "Use Pure Bred Sires," recently published by the agricultural extension service will be used in this campaign. Lectures and demonstrations will be given each day.

Mr. Simpson will also select farms which will be used in the future in carrying on breeding and feeding demonstrations. The owners of these farms will be asked to co-operate in this work.

The cuts that were used in making the poster have been sent to the Star Journal at Warrensburg to be used with articles as a forerunner to the campaign.

Will Design Park and Fountain.

Prof. H. F. Major, landscape gardener of the University, has been engaged to design a park and memorial fountain for the Barkley cemetery at New London, Mo. The cemetery is privately endowed and is one of the best kept in the state, according to Professor Major.

BUILD ROADS WITH BRICK, ADVISES FEDERAL OFFICE

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Continuing its advice on road-building, the United States office of good roads today discussed brick as a building material.

Forty-four years ago the first brick road in the United States was constructed in Charleston, W. V.

"The experience of forty-four years," says the office of good roads, "has demonstrated that it is entirely practical to construct satisfactory brick roads."

"These roads," say Uncle Sam's experts, "now are giving general satisfaction, when properly constructed, and it is probable that their mileage will continue to increase rapidly."

The principal advantages of the brick road according to the Government road service are:

1. Durability under practically all traffic conditions.

2. Easy traction and good foothold.

3. Maintenance.

The only disadvantage attributed to this type of road is the high initial cost. This is largely offset, it is figured, by the low maintenance and general stamina of the road.

The best type of brick road, in the opinion of the Government road experts, is a good brick laid on a sand cushion, with a substantial concrete foundation.

The most essential factor in the building of a good brick road is the selection of a suitable brick. The United States road men recommend bricks made from shales and fire clays of the "lean" varieties. The shales are red, while the fire clays produce a light-colored road. The brick chosen should be hard, rough and uniform in size.

Although a definite speculation as to crushing strength is not necessary, good paving brick should withstand a pressure of from 15,000 to 20,000 pounds a square inch.

For the brick road, a concrete foundation is advisable, but where the traffic is light, broken stone will often suffice. Should stone be used, it should be put on in courses, the largest stones at the bottom, and should be from eight to ten inches deep.

The more satisfactory concrete base may be a composition of one part Portland cement, three parts sand and five to seven parts broken stone or gravel. This should then be curved to a depth of two inches with a clean sand, spread dry. On this sand cushion the bricks are laid on edge and at right angles to the line of the road. Each alternate row should begin a half a brick in. Ramming and rolling completes the road.

ATHLETES GET COACHING JOBS

Wear, M. Drumm and Hyde, Former Basketball Men, Will Instruct.

Three former members of the Tiger basketball squad have coaching positions recently. John ("String") Wear, who captained the 1916 five and who played forward on the Black and Gold quintet for three years, has located at Collinsville, Ill. Harley Hyde, guard, also a member of the Tiger squad for the last three years, has accepted a position doing athletic work at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. M. G. Drumm, who played on the 1915 team, will have charge of athletics at the high school at Freeport, Ill.

The announcement of the appointment of these three former Missouri players follows that of the selection of George Edwards, captain of the 1913 team, to handle athletics at Kansas Wesleyan.

KANSAS TO AID HARVESTERS

No Calls to Be Sent East Unless Actual Work Is in Sight.

By United Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 31.—Teh state employment bureau announced today that it won't call an army of eastern laborers to the Kansas harvest fields next summer until it has a job for every man called. The bureau will make a canvass of farmers in the spring, asking each how many men he must have.

Under the present system harvesters are sent to the farmers as calls are made for them. The result has been that generally there is an estimate given out far over the number of men actually needed. Men who come from eastern places sometimes do not get sufficient work to pay them for their trip to the state.
